

In the age of Covid, a home office is essential. Jonathan Angus' editing suite is located in the heart of Hollywood. Situated in the hills above the Hollywood Bowl.

A large client monitor and additional seating can easily be added should in-person Producer review sessions be requested.

A screening room with a 110" projection screen drops down from the ceiling should more elaborate screenings be needed.

